TAYLOR LODGE, 1934

Through GMC's efforts trails, summits, and shelters are managed by caretakers and volunteer adopters, providing a crucial role in the upkeep of the trail system.

GMC's Education Program offers workshops on outdoor skills, first aid, trail maintenance, and guided outings year round.

Members and Volunteers of the GMC show a commitment to keeping the Long Trail a part of Vermont's landscape for future generations. GMC could not do the job of maintaining and protecting the Long Trail and its side trails without the support of its 10,000 members.

GMC has fourteen local chapters, called sections. Each section offers hikes and other outdoor outings year-round, and conducts trail maintenance on a portion of the trail system.
